

Senate Bill No. 286—Senators Jones,
Segerblom, Kihuen; and Ford

CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to civil actions; providing immunity from civil action for certain claims based on the right to petition and the right to free speech under certain circumstances; establishing the burden of proof for a special motion to dismiss; providing for the interlocutory appeal from an order denying a special motion to dismiss; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel’s Digest:

Existing law establishes certain provisions to deter frivolous or vexatious lawsuits (Strategic Lawsuits Against Public Participation, commonly known as “SLAPP lawsuits”). (Chapter 387, Statutes of Nevada 1997, p. 1363; NRS 41.635-41.670) A SLAPP lawsuit is characterized as a meritless suit filed primarily to discourage the named defendant’s exercise of First Amendment rights. “The hallmark of a SLAPP lawsuit is that it is filed to obtain a financial advantage over one’s adversary by increasing litigation costs until the adversary’s case is weakened or abandoned.” (Metabolic Research, Inc. v. Ferrell, 693 F.3d 795, 796 n.1 (9th Cir. 2012))

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals recently held that the provisions of NRS concerning such lawsuits only protect communications made directly to a governmental agency. The Ninth Circuit also held that, as written, these provisions of NRS provide protection from liability but not from trial. That distinction, when coupled with the lack of an express statutory right to an interlocutory appeal, led the court to conclude that these provisions of NRS do not provide for an immediate appeal of an order denying a special motion to dismiss a SLAPP lawsuit. (Metabolic, at 802)

Existing law provides that a person who engages in good faith communication in furtherance of the right to petition is immune from civil liability for claims based upon that communication. (NRS 41.650) Section 2 of this bill expands the scope of that immunity by providing that a person who exercises the right to free speech in direct connection with an issue of public concern is also immune from any civil action for claims based upon that communication.

Existing law defines certain communications, for purposes of statutory provisions concerning SLAPP lawsuits, as communications made by a person in connection with certain governmental actions, officers, employees or entities. (NRS 41.637) Section 1 of this bill includes within the meaning of such communications those that are made in direct connection with an issue of public interest in a place open to the public or in a public forum. Section 3 of this bill establishes the burden of proof for a dismissal by special motion of a SLAPP lawsuit. Section 3 reduces from 30 days to 7 judicial days the time within which a court must rule on a special motion to dismiss.

Existing law requires, under certain circumstances, an award of reasonable costs and attorney’s fees to the person against whom a SLAPP lawsuit was brought if a court grants a special motion to dismiss. (NRS 41.670) Section 4 of this bill authorizes, in addition to an award of costs and attorney’s fees, an award of up to $10,000 if a special motion to dismiss is granted. Section 4 also provides that if a court finds that a special motion to dismiss was frivolous or vexatious, the court shall award the prevailing party reasonable costs and attorney’s fees and may award an amount of up to $10,000 and any such additional relief as the court deems proper to punish and deter the filing of frivolous or vexatious motions.
