Powermark Homes, Inc. was established in April 1994 and in September 1995 they got sued for the 1st time. Public Records indicate they have been involved in at least thirty four (34) civil lawsuits in seven (7) different Ohio Courts, in three (3) different Ohio Counties and its owners were named as Co-Defendants in most of these lawsuits.

On December 28, 2006 the State of Ohio Department of Taxation filed a $690.06 State Tax Lien against them for unpaid Withholding Tax and as of April 13, 2007 there are still three (3) active Civil Lawsuits pending in three (3) different Ohio Courts.

The questions are:

(1) How can this company not pay taxes, forfeit compliance bonds, be involved in (34) known lawsuits, and still be in business?

(2) What does all of this say about the owners Mark & Lisa Powers?

When Powermark Homes, Inc. quit paying for website hosting services, the website developer Eclipse Solutions Group of Independence, Ohio shut down their website for non payment and posted a notice explaining exactly why the website was shut down. Consequently, as you can see from the example above all of the major search engines such as Google, AOL, Yahoo and Altavista etc. displayed Eclipse Solutions non-payment notice.

The Truth Exposed

In didn't take this self proclaimed "multi-million dollar company" very long to show their true colors by building a 'do-it-yourself website' and posting it online themselves. On the new Powermark Homes Website they claim " to bring value to the consumer through price competitiveness, efficiency and low over head."

Is their behavior an example of how an efficient "multi-million dollar company" keeps a "low over head" or is it more typical of a company that slips and slides, doesn't pay their suppliers or vendors, gets sued repeatedly, but continues to do business as usual? And, can they really believe visitors to their new 'canned incomplete website' will think this is a multi-million dollar company worthy of doing business with?
